3. Short reading (3-4 min)

In basketball, you bounce the ball – this is called dribbling. If you walk with the ball without dribbling, this is "traveling" – it's not allowed. You can pass the ball to a

Basketball - A1/A2 Version

Note for the teacher

The main file's video (dense, 7 rules in ~100 seconds, natural speed) is realistic for A2/B1+, not for true beginners. This version replaces the listening task with matching and MCQ built on a much shorter, simpler text.

6. Game

Use "Ref Call" or "Coach Says" exactly as described in basketball-activity.md, section 6 – both are already accessible for this group (physical, low-language, and recycle the words above).

Companion file – the original basketball-activity.md is unchanged and should still be used with B1-B2 students.

About this activity

Companion to `basketball-activity.md` – for A1-A2 students (true beginners included). Use this instead of the main vocabulary/reading/listening sections; the "Ref Call" and "Coach Says" games at the end of the main file work for this group too, unchanged. ~25–30 min

False friend: "basket"

Still worth flagging with this group too, briefly and simply: in English, you never shorten "basketball" to "basket." You play basketball. "A basket" means a successful shot.
